DONAHEY HAS SIX PLANKS

Democratic Platform to Avoid Disturbing Issues.

LEADERS DESIRE HARMONY

Ohio Democratic Declaration Will Indorse the National Platform Adopted at New York and Include Planks Dealing With State Affairs—Davis to Speak at Afternoon Session of Convention.

Columbus, Aug. 22.—With John W. Davis, nominee for president, here as the guest of Ohio Democracy to speak at the convention next Tuesday, the party leaders will make every effort to see that peace and harmony prevails.

Disturbing issues, such as the Ku Klux Klan, will not be permitted to arise, according to the present plans. Furthermore, an armistice will prevail among the party factions and between Governor Donahey and party leaders who are not personally friendly to him.

Davis will speak at the afternoon session of the convention. It is planned to complete the business session in the morning, adopt the state platform, select candidates for presidential electors and dispose of all the other formalities. Mrs. Davis will accompany her husband to Columbus.

The platform will include the fundamental party declarations drafted at New York, and add to these only essential planks dealing with state issues. Governor Donahey will have a number of personal planks which he will present to the resolutions committee. Among these will be:

A pledge to continue the policy of building cheap gravel roads where practicable in counties which have few roads and can not afford heavy duty highways.

Promise to take state institutions "out of politics" by restoring the old bipartisan board of administration and abolish the present one-man directorship control.

Restatement of Donahey's assertion that "home rule" in taxation, with limitations swept aside and the voting of levies left to the people themselves, offers the only way out of the present tax muddle.

Declaration for reform of the utilities commission and the utilities laws so that the people will have a "50-50" break with the utilities corporations in rate questions before the commission.

Pledge that the Democratic party, responsible for the direct primary law, will protect it and defeat the plan to weaken the law by establishing the pre-primary nominating conventions.

Demanding recodification and reformation of Ohio's election laws to lessen the cost of elections and protect the rights of the voters, together with provision for "permanent" registration of voters.

DENIES CHARGE

Head of Standard Oil Company of Indiana Testifies.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 22.—William Burton, president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, testified at the state investigation of the oil industry in Missouri, that his company has no contracts or agreements with other oil companies to limit sales or to operate in certain territories. The investigation is being conducted by Attorney Jesse W. Barrett to determine if sufficient evidence can be gathered to warrant anti-trust action against the Standard Oil company of Indiana for violation of Missouri's anti-trust laws.

B. T. Banks, manager of the Mid-Continent Oil company, an independent oil company at Kansas City, testified that the Standard dominated the Missouri field to the extent that there was a sort of "psychological fear" that prevented smaller companies from starting cutting prices.

Davis' Campaign Expenditures. Columbus, Aug. 22.—Harry L. Davis, Republican candidate for governor, and Joseph B. Sieber of Akron, who was second in the primary race, ran neck and neck in campaign expenditures, according to expense accounts filed with Secretary of State Brown. Davis leads with a total expenditure of $21,658.80 and Sieber's account shows $19,547.57. The personal account of Davis showed no receipts and $4,025 spent. Of this amount, $2,000 is accounted for in the committee report, Davis having contributed that amount to the fund.

BENEDICT HOLDEN

Head of Connecticut Grand Jury That Indicted Fake Doctors.

Referendum Sought.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 22.—Referendum petitions against a new traffic ordinance under which jitneys have been ousted from the downtown district were filed with the city clerk by jitney owners. Court action is expected to determine whether the ordinance, passed as an emergency, is subject to referendum.

Kinkade Increases Lead.

Columbus, Aug. 22.—Lead of Judge Reynolds R. Kinkade of Toledo over Judge Frank W. Geiger of Springfield for second place on the Republican judicial ticket increased to 2,472 when official returns were received from Cuyahoga, Mahoning and Henry counties.

YANKEE FLIERS IN GREENLAND

Make Safe Landing After an 825-Mile Jump.

TWO WEEES' DELAY ENDED

Latest Flight Almost Imperative Owing to the Low Fuel Supply on the Navy Cruisers Which Are Guarding the Airmen—Indian Harbor, Labrador, the Next Stop—Aviators' Itinerary.

London, Aug. 22.—The American around-the-world fliers reached Greenland after their 825 mile flight from Reykjavik, Iceland.

Dispatches say Lieutenants Erik Nelson and Lowell H. Smith, the fliers, landed safely. The Americans were accompanied by Lieutenant Locatelli, the Italian flyer, who is en route to New York.

Ivigtut is the last stop in Greenland for the fliers and is up the western coast 150 miles from Frederiksdal. The air adventures will make a one day's stop at Ivigtut and then take to the air again, heading for Indian Harbor, Labrador, whence they will continue down the eastern coast of North America to Boston. They hope to arrive in Boston not later than Sept. 1.

Yesterday's flight was almost imperative owing to the low fuel supply on the navy cruisers which are guarding the airmen. Officials pointed out that there are no tankers close to the path of the fliers and that the ships probably would be forced to make long cruises in order to refuel in case the delay was extended. The airmen were more than willing to get away.

The hop-off terminated a fortnight's delay in Iceland, caused first by unfavorable weather and later by a mishap which occurred early this week when the planes were damaged attempting to take the air with too heavy a load of fuel.

It is said the American aviators each took 400 gallons of fuel on board at Reykjavik. Past performances have indicated a consumption of 25 gallons an hour, which would insure 16 hours continued flight, with a maximum radius in that time of about 1,000 miles. These figures would hold, it was declared, only if every element was at maximum efficiency—with just the right wind to furnish the greatest "lift" and with pontoons unweighed by immersion in water.

SAVAGE ASSAILS CASE OF DEFENSE

Demands Death Penalty for Leopold and Loeb.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—At the Leopold-Loeb hearing, Assistant State's Attorney Joseph W. Savage called on Chief Justice John R. Caverly to serve the slayers the same way they served Bobby Franks—with death.

Stepping up to the boys Savage shook a clinched fist under their noses and shouted: "Your honor, if we do not hang these boys, it will be a long, long time before we hang anybody else in Cook county."

"Mr. Darrow came before you and made a virtue out of a necessity," Savage shouted. "He pleaded guilty to murdering and kidnapping for ransom. Your honor knows well that if the state's case had not been ironclad, if there had been any way out of this mass of facts, Mr. Darrow would have taken his chance with a jury. But he knew he could not find 12 men in this country or any other country who would free them."

Savage pictured to Justice Caverly the "deliberate and cold blooded" manner in which Leopold and Loeb hid the body of their victim. He described how Leopold and Loeb shoved the body of the 14-year-old school boy into the drain pipe of a railroad culvert, south of Chicago. "They mailed the letter demanding ransom, prepared in advance," Savage said, "and then called up the Franks home and told Mrs. Franks that the boy was safe and would be returned if the ransom was paid."

Dr. James W. Hall, chief of the defense alienists, said he had been asked to attend all sessions of the court, largely to observe Loeb. Richard, who early in life suffered from epilepsy, is subject to severe twitching of the facial muscles. Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney, is much concerned about his young client's condition. He spends much of his time near the youth, chatting with him in an attempt to raise his spirits. Alienists agree that Loeb is more sensitive than Leopold and they look for him to be the first to give way.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Primary Fraud Alleged.

Columbus, Aug. 22.—Affidavits purporting to show frauds in the recent Republican primary and a demand for a recount will be filed within a few days by Oliver H. Griffin, defeated Republican candidate for representative, and several others. Griffin announced. He declared that in one Columbus precinct he did not receive a vote on the count as returned to the board of election, but he says he has 11 affidavits from residents of the precinct declaring that their votes were cast for him. Griffin is gathering affidavits in other wards.

Engineer Killed.

Cincinnati, Aug. 22.—Engineer John Donnell was crushed to death and Fireman Lee Simmons was scalped, when the engine of passenger train No. 12 on the Baltimore and Ohio turned over in the railroad yards at Mitchell, Ind. None of the passengers was hurt. Only the engine and mail coach left the track after going through an open switch.

Trotter Breaks Record.

Cleveland, Aug. 22.—Colonel Bosworth, by Belwin-Mary Worthy, driven by McDonald of Indianapolis, established a new world's record for 3-year-old trotters here when he went the first heat of the championship stalling stakes in 2:02 3-5. The previous record was made by Miss Bertha Dillon in Atlanta in 1917. It was 2:03 3-4.

Clinton Cowen Dead.

Cincinnati, Aug. 22.—Clinton Cowen, former county surveyor and state highway commissioner, died at Manitow Island, Canada, while on a hunting and fishing trip, according to a telegram received here. He was one of the best known civil engineers and highway experts in the United States. He was unmarried and about 60 years old.

To Hear Davis.

Cincinnati, Aug. 22.—A delegation of approximately 200 Hamilton county Democrats will go to Columbus next Tuesday to attend the Democratic state platform convention and to hear the speech of John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, who will be the chief speaker. Thomas Noctor will head the delegates.

Aviator Killed.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 22.—Steven Bromley, Jr., formerly of Canfield, O., was killed in the fall of an airplane at Newport News, Va. Bromley formerly was a reporter for the Youngstown Vindicator. He left here two years ago, after marrying a Youngstown girl, to study airplane engineering in Boston.

Sells Invention.

Chillicothe, O., Aug. 22.—James Darby, former employe of the Mead Pulp and Paper company of this city, has sold his invention for a paper machine to a Beloit, Wis., firm for $200,000. Darby is said to be employed by a publishing firm at Dayton. He is married and has four children.

Whisky Stolen.

Cincinnati, Aug. 22.—The warehouse of the "Old 76" distillery near Newport, Ky., was entered by thieves who carried away whisky valued at $10,000. The robbers were forced to cut their way through two feet of brick and reinforced concrete in order to reach the storeroom where the whisky was kept.

WILL DIRECT CAMPAIGN

Committee to Be Selected by Republican Nominees.

ORGANIZATION IS EFFECTED

State Central Committee Elects Warner of Marion as Chairman and Duffy of Columbus as Secretary. Davis, Brown, Day, Tracy and Other Leaders Attend Columbus Conference.

Columbus, Aug. 22.—The Republican state central committee effected organization here through the election of Fred W. Warner of Marion as chairman and George C. Braden of Warren as vice chairman. W. H. Duffy of Columbus was re-elected secretary.

For the chairmanship Warner received 12 of the 19 votes cast. Daniel C. Brower of Dayton received five votes and Marshall Sheppey of Toledo two votes. Three members were absent: Warner, Sheppey and Clayton C. Townes of Cleveland.

Warner succeeds Major Charles W. Montgomery of Newark, who announced his retirement some time ago and did not seek re-election to the committee. Warner is now serving his second term as prosecuting attorney of Marion county. He studied law while driving a milk wagon. He is now on a tour of the east with his family. He has a wife and two children and has been a lifelong Republican.

The committee approved the plan agreed upon by the Republican nominees for state offices, to have an executive committee to direct the campaign. A subcommittee of five members—Peter W. Durr of Cincinnati, Daniel C. Brower of Dayton, Ralph C. McBride of Cleveland, C. S. Younger of Celina and H. Ross Ake of Canton—was appointed to confer with the nominees and select the executive committee.

The proposed executive committee will consist of 44 members—a man and a woman from each congressional district. The executive committee will select a chairman, who will be campaign manager, subject to the approval of the central committee.

At the conference were former Governor Davis, Secretary of State Brown, State Treasurer Day, State Auditor Tracy, Charles H. Lewis, nominee for lieutenant governor, and Assistant Attorney General Dunifon, representing Attorney General Crabbe, who is absent from the city.

SPONSORS TWO BILLS

New York State Senator Would Prevent Hasty Marriages.

New York, Aug. 22.—State Senator Antin, chairman of the New York state commission to examine laws relating to child welfare, is prepared to urge, at the next session of the legislature, the passing of two bills. The first is the "child marriage bill." It would forbid the issue of marriage licenses to children under 16 years of age except by a special court order. The second is called the "hasty marriage bill," which would provide that a license may not be issued until five days after the filing of an application. Sometimes it is possible to make people over 18 listen to reason, or to listen to their elders, which does not always seem or mean the same thing. But under 18, girls and boys who plan to marry secretly do not stop for advice and would spurn it, anyway, the senator holds.

SWEPT BY STORMS

Sections of South Dakota and Minnesota Report Damage.

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—Severe storms swept sections of South Dakota, according to dispatches received here. A tornado swept through a district 15 miles east of Huron, killing one man at Yale, northeast of Huron, and injuring several persons in the towns of Irons and Cavour. Yale, according to unconfirmed reports, was virtually wiped out. Two persons were reported killed and serious property damage done by a storm at Hayti, S. D. The storm did widespread damage to buildings and crops in the Watertown area, it was revealed by reports.

Electric storms struck St. Paul and Minneapolis within a few hours, tying up streetcar service generally, breaking electrical power lines, flooding basements and causing other damage.

DANCES HELD IMMORAL

Members of Strange Religious Cult Placed Under Arrest.

Pomeroy, O., Aug. 22.—Members of a religious cult who, according to Meigs county officials, conduct immoral dances in connection with their services, were held by county officers pending a hearing early next week on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minor children. Their place of worship at Beech Grove, near this city, was raided by officers. Forty-four arrests were made. Of these 29 were children. The minors were charged with immoral conduct and their parents with abetting them and contributing to their delinquency.

Antics of the worshippers were described to the prosecuting attorney by local officers who raided the church. The services, officers said, usually began at 10:30 p. m. and sometimes continued until dawn. During the "song service" hymns are sung in ragtime, apparently to arouse the members to a frenzy. They arise and go through strange dances. Officers charged that "shimmying" was one of the main modes of worship.

Sees New Alliance.

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Major General James G. Harbord, former deputy chief of staff of the army, in an address before the institute on international relations from the Christian point of view, warned against a German-Russian-Chinese-Japanese combination. He urged adequate armament and additional co-operation for limitation of competitive arming. He declared that Russia and Germany would not remain content to be excluded from the far east and that "our unhappy manner of doing the thing we had a right to do may have lost us the warm friendship of Japan."

APPROVED BY COOLIDGE

Movement to Get Out the Christian Vote Receives Support.

Washington, Aug. 22.—President Coolidge approved a nation-wide campaign to enlist the 25,000 clergymen of the country in a movement "to get out the Christian vote," according to the Homiletic Review, a magazine devoted to the interests of ministers, which started the campaign. In a letter to Funk & Wagnalls, publishers, the president said: "The organizers of the movement to include all of the church-going community to go to the polls on election day and perform their full duty of citizenship is certainly deserving of every possible encouragement, and I am glad to assure you that it will have mine."

Bryan in Crash.

Mattoon, Ill., Aug. 22.—William Jennings Bryan was bruised and cut about the head and face when the automobile in which he was traveling from Tuscola, Ill., to this city overturned. In spite of his injuries, the Commoner proceeded with a lecture for which he was scheduled on his arrival here.

Militia Officer Dead.

Columbus, Aug. 22.—Lieutenant Colonel Joseph H. Nicholas, 55, United States property and dispensing officer of the Ohio national guard, died suddenly at his home here. He enlisted in the guard as a private in 1906.

Mah-Jongg "Itch"

"This apparently harmless and somewhat stupid game," says a writer in the Argonaut—and guess what game he's referring to—that has even been played on an inflated rubber mattress by persons in bathing at Palm Beach is now accused of causing, in some cases, an irritation of the skin akin to Napoleon's affliction, the itch—another possible explanation of his keeping one hand inside his vest in so many of his portraits. If you get what Napoleon had don't give way to harrowing fears nor alarm your family, but try cribbage awhile, or checkers, or some other simple amusement not too severe in its exactions for the intellect of a mah-jongg player."—Kansas City Times.

Stick to It

Cortlandt Bleeker of New York said in one of his amusing tirades against cosmetics: "I remarked to a young lady the other day: "Women have much finer complexions than men?" "Yes, naturally," she said. "No, artificially," said I."

Edwin Thomas, 70, many years, identified with coal and iron industries of Lehigh Valley, is dead.

Bonsib Got in Bad

Several months ago while returning to Indianapolis from Brown county, Louis Bonsib, now of Peru, Ind., but at that time living in Indianapolis, witnessed a piece of driving on the part of the "more gentle sex" that almost caused him to release his grip on the steering wheel of his automobile and shut his eyes. A short time later the same woman driver crowded a small sedan from the road and the occupants narrowly escaped serious injury.

The other passenger in Bonsib's machine happened to have police power and a badge and the two decided to "step 'er up" to the woman driver and warn her to be more careful in her driving.

The big car fairly ate up the road to the other machine and both occupants leaned out and "bawled the driver out" to their heart's desire.

The next day Bonsib seemed rather downcast and the other passenger, who chanced to be a next door neighbor, asked him what the trouble was.

"Remember that woman driver we bawled out yesterday?" Bonsib asked.

"Sure," was the reply.

"Well, I'm in Dutch. She was my stenographer," replied Bonsib. Aesop said 1,000 years ago, "He who laughs last laughs best."—Indianapolis News.

MEXICO IS HAVEN FOR U. S. CROOKS

Officials Below Line Ignore "Gentleman's Agreement."

Laredo, Texas.—Notwithstanding diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States have been restored, complaint is made by Texas border officers that it is virtually impossible to obtain extradition of fugitive criminals from Mexico. Such a voluminous amount of red tape must be unraveled that almost interminable delays result.

To such a degree is this true that the formality of applying for the extradition of an offender who may have sought refuge in Mexico is seldom observed. Instead, a friendly understanding exists between the peace officers and government authorities of the border states on both sides of the international line that they will exchange fugitive criminals without legal process.

Even this agreement is not always lived up to by the Mexican authorities. It is charged here. As a matter of fact, hundreds of offenders against the law who fled to Mexico in the last few years are living in apparent security against molestation in that country. All efforts to bring about their return to the American side of the boundary have proved futile, it is declared.

No blame is attached to the Mexican government for this. The authorities of that country are too busy trying to round up a horde of domestic criminals to pay much attention to foreign refugees. During the recent revolutionary period hundreds of desperate criminals were released from prison by rebels and are today roaming over the country.

Famous Indian of Old Alaska Is Dead

Douglas, Alaska.—Dick Morgan, an Indian who died recently, was a historic character of Alaska. It was recalled by Rev. A. P. Kashevaroff of Juneau.

Morgan, whom the United States naval authorities had employed as a policeman nearly 50 years ago, was sent with a message from Capt. L. A. Beardslee to settle differences that had arisen between the Kookwontahn and Ganaadi tribes north of Sitka. Morgan informed the chiefs of the warring factions that they were to preserve order and to permit the white men to go through the Yukon passes.

Morgan returned on February 12, 1880, with word to Captain Beardslee that the Indian factions would remain peaceful and that the white men could enter the country without fear. As a result of this parley the Chilkat country was opened to miners.

Postage on One Letter Wipes Out Bank Account

New York.—Alexander Konta, Wall street banker, was informed in a letter from Germany that his Berlin bank account of a million or so was wiped out. The million or so was in marks. The Dresdner Bank of Berlin wrote him the letter, which, after saying his account of 1,123,949 marks no longer existed, and adding that the smallest account now handled was 10,000,000,000 marks, read:

"Your total account, therefore, has been used in part payment for postage on this letter and is now squared, we having paid the difference out of our own pocket."

Find Hudson Bay Trap

Chehalis.—An interesting relic of bygone days, possibly dating back to Hudson Bay times, is an exhibition in a hardware store window here. It is a monster steel trap, the sprung jaws of which would be powerful enough, it would seem, to hold an elephant. It was found northwest of Chehalis, near Littell. Some believe that it may have been set many years ago by trappers of the Hudson Bay company, so antique is the type.

Girl Usher Left $50,000

Los Angeles, Cal.—Miss Genevieve Waddell, pretty seventeen-year-old usherette at a local theater, has just received word that she has been left $50,000 by her uncle, Walter Waddell, late banker of Everett, Wash. She will receive the money on her next birthday, February 18, 1925.

Dog's Good Character Saves Owner $5,000

Oregon, Ill.—Many prominent citizens of Ogle county appeared in court here the other day as character witnesses for Bowser, a dog, now deceased, and their testimony saved Charles Vogeler, owner of the dog, $5,000.

Vogeler had been sued by Katherine Clinton, who alleged the dog was responsible for an automobile accident in which the complainant and her sister suffered serious injuries and Bowser was killed. The women said he dashed out at their car and his body became entangled in the front wheels and caused the car to turn over.

The character witnesses testified that Bowser had a good reputation for peaceful and quiet habits and had never been known to run after a car. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

Ancient and Modern Culture

To compare ancient Egypt, or the Valley of the Kings, and all they have bequeathed to us, brought to light from time to time by excavation, with material discovery, such as steam, electricity and the like, through other scientific channels would be ridiculous. But archeological discoveries as the harnessing of those powers to our uses are the only real advantage other than the science of medicine, that modern civilization may claim over that of the ancients. Again, though we cannot become intimate with those ancient people in the living, by archeological research work we can become intimate with their dead and the material they have bequeathed us. As a result of such research, we find that culture in the way of intellectual development and the arts in general were in those most ancient times in many ways higher than they are today. In fact, modern progress in the mechanical sciences and industrialism generally are largely responsible for the complete eclipse of spontaneous and unconscious artistic production. If thereby we get such ultimate results as cubism and futurism, then archeological research will show that the arts are best without our mechanical and industrial progress.—Howard Carter in Current History Magazine.

Tree Planting

A request from the American Tree Planting association for the name of the "champion tree planter" in each state is a reminder of the great growth of the arboricultural movement in the United States since J. Sterling Morton first proposed an Arbor day. The American Tree association says that it has enrolled 70,000 registered tree planters, but this is far from constituting our tree planting strength. The effort to establish avenues of shade along the principal highways is participated in by many individuals and by hundreds of local organizations.

The association meanwhile furthers an excellent undertaking by publishing instructions on tree planting that the veriest novice can understand.—Portland Oregonian.

Dishonest Borrowers
Why does the average man or woman who borrows books lose all sense of property rights and fail to return them except under compulsion? Other things frequently come back to the lender, but if it is a book he is lucky, indeed who regains possession of it.—Boston Transcript.

Great Care Taken of Silk.
Silk is the most costly of all fibers, and in the raw state represents a value so great as to be guarded in its transportation like a shipment of bullion. It is shipped from coast to coast in special, solid express trains, under strong guard, the shipments ranging in value from $5,000,000 to $25,000,000.

BRAKES REQUIRE MUCH ATTENTION

That Part of Car Should Be Operating at Top-Notch of Efficiency Always.

By ERWIN GREER, President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.
Car owners and repair men do not take time enough in adjusting automobile brakes. In your paper this morning you read of a horrible motorcar accident in which "bad brakes" played the leading role. Yet, you glance at the item—and forget it. Worse still, you ignore the moral it sets forth: Look to your own car and see if the brakes are in good condition.

Wheels Running Free.
Possibly you think that as long as the brake drums do not feel warm to the hand after you come in from a drive that the bands are not dragging. But this is not conclusive evidence that the wheels are running free. The only way to be certain of this is to jack up both rear wheels from the ground and then turn each wheel in a forward direction. When this is done, due to the differential action, the wheel on the other side of the car should turn in the opposite direction. That is, it will if the bands are free. While this check is being made the gears should be in neutral. Any swishing or rubbing noise coming from the wheel while you are rotating it is a sure sign that something is the matter, and a something which should be immediately removed if you wish your car to be free from brake drag. You who have not had the experience will find it almost unbelievable what a very slight amount of brake drag will do to your car's performance, especially on a hill.

While the car is jacked up it is imperative that you first free the external brakes, so that there is absolutely no contact between the brake band and the drum. Then, when you rotate the wheels, you can easily discover whether or not the internal brakes are dragging. If the internal brakes run free it is a simple matter to adjust the external brakes, and this is accomplished by first setting the adjustment at the brake support as close to the drum as possible, so that when the wheel is rotated no contact is made between the brake drum and brake band. Most brake drums are more or less out of round, so be positive that contact is not made when the brakes are in the release position.

Repair Brake Linings.
If the brake linings are worn and require replacement, have it done immediately. It is aggravating to have to fool around with adjustments while on the road—furthermore, it is sheer murder for yourself and passengers, for who can tell when the emergency will arise? Therefore have your brakes operating at the top-notch of efficiency at all times. If you don't you'll be sorry, or, rather, your family will, because flowers and caskets cost more than brake linings. Do you understand what I mean?

Call for an Expert
A broken spring plate should be repaired or replaced at once by a skilled spring maker, not by any chance a blacksmith. If the intermediate plates should break at the center bolt, the spring clips should be tightened down until it is possible to have the break repaired. Very often rebound clips are loose or broken. Missing rebound clips may result in broken main plates.

Tip About Nuts
Nuts set into inaccessible places can be tightened or removed by the use of two wrenches and a monkey or pipe wrench. The end wrenches are jointed; one is fitted to the nut and the monkey wrench is then clamped to the end of the second end wrench. Then by carefully twisting the nut can be tightened or loosened.

LIGHTED CIGARETTE SERIOUS MENACE TO CAR

"Look here, Buddy, don't you know better than to have a lighted cigarette in your mouth while filling your gas tank?" asked the fire inspector of this man. The warning and reproval was made by the inspector as his part in fire prevention.

"Rich" and "Lean" Gasoline Mixtures

There is nothing mysterious about the terms "rich" and "lean" mixtures. A rich mixture is one with too great a proportion of gasoline to the amount of air, whereas, a lean mixture is possessed of less fuel than it should have for proper combustion.

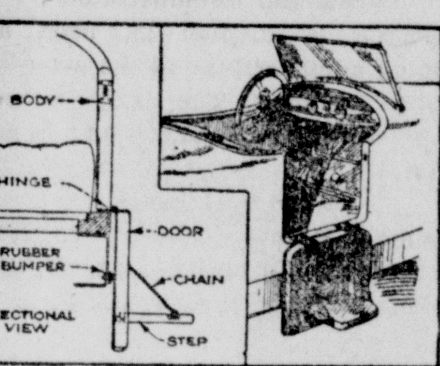

An overrich mixture will cause overheating of the engine, to say nothing of carbon accumulation and such other ills as preignition, loss of power, lack of accelerative ability and loading up at low speeds. At high speed a lean mixture will cause misfiring and uneven running of the motor. In connection with this improper operation there will be the familiar popping in the carburetor.

Of course, these troubles cannot always be charged to incorrect mixture, but nine times out of ten such incorrect operation can be traced to it.

Step on Racing Car Is Combined With the Door

In the construction of speedster bodies it is desirable to avoid any projections on the sides of the car, as these break the streamline appearance. For this reason a car owner, who was building a speedster, combined the step with the door, as shown in the illustration.

In doing so it was necessary to attach the door hinges to the bottom of the door instead of to the side, as usual. Upon opening the door, the small aluminum step automatically drops down and is held by means of two small chains. When closed, the chains are entirely out of sight and the step is flush with the covering on the inside of the door. Apart from the improvement in appearance obtained with this type of door and step, much less work was involved than if both had been constructed separately.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

A Novel Combination of Door and Step for Speedster Where a Flush Appearance Was Desired: The Step Drops Down When the Door Is Opened.

Locking the Car

Many modern cars are fitted with a battery ignition system, in which the distributor arm is removable. By removing this arm the car owner makes it possible to steal his vehicle only by towing it away or by fitting another distributing arm. The arm may be removed simply by unclamping the distributor cover to which the wires are attached. It usually happens that there is only one way in which this arm will fit, so that there need be no worry about replacement.

Go Too Far to Right

There is a noticeable tendency among drivers to leave too much room between cars when passing each other at night. The tendency to drive too close in day time is carried to the other extreme at night. Much of this is due to the fact that a driver unconsciously allows for a full car width in the belief that the other car extends much further out toward the center of the road than is revealed by the headlights.

Triumphs of Philosophy

Philosophy easily triumphs over ills both past and future; but present ills triumph over philosophy. The good we have received from any one should make us bear with the ill we have suffered. Weakness often gets the better of those ills which reason could not.—La Rochefoucauld.

Their Industry Gone

Picking pebbles for use in huge grinding mills used to be a profitable industry along the Pacific coast. Science has invented a steel ball which does the work more quickly and lasts twice as long. As a result the market for pebbles is destroyed. The pebble pickers are hunting new jobs.

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

DEFENSE DAY

Church Paper Says it Does Not Violate the Christian Conscience.

The following quotation is from an extended editorial occupying the first page of The Western Christian Advocate of this city, the official organ of the Methodist Episcopal church in Ohio and the middle west. The editorial gets down to brass tacks in its discussion of the question of Defense day. It does not agree with the Democratic candidate for the vice presidency in his condemnation of the day's observance in accordance with the program of the president and the war department. Following is the concluding paragraph of this patriotic and rational contribution to a much mooted question:

The dodger will find excuses to absent himself. The blue-stocking pacifist will create arguments to justify apathy. The defeatist will boldly cry out and wildly acclaim his opposition, but the far seeing and red-blooded patriotic citizen will find a way by which he can respond to this call and not in the least violate his Christian conscience.

Brave, true words! They will encourage the hearts of millions of men and women. They synchronize with the sentiment of Cardinal Hayes of the Catholic church, recently published to the American people. They prove that it is possible for good men and good women to be patriots and Christians in fact, despite the sophistries of those who affect to believe that a refusal to fight or to prepare to fight would assure immunity from war.

The Advocate editorial further claims that the observance of Defense day has been called for by an authority which no one with loyalty and patriotic sentiment will resist.

The country is indebted to the Advocate, which speaks for one of the greatest, most influential and patriotic religious organizations under the flag.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MRS. GEORGE HAWS

Died Thursday at Home on Pleasant Street—Funeral Saturday.

Mrs. Mary A. Haws died at her home, 148 Pleasant street, Thursday afternoon, August 21, at 2:30 o'clock.

The deceased had been ill over a year and more seriously the past two days. Her death was due to apoplexy. She was born near Kingston December 11, 1856, and was the daughter of Peter and Elizabeth Wisebaker Schell. She was married January 20, 1874, at Kingston to George W. Haws, who survives. The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church of Kingston. Besides her husband, one son, Herman Haws, survives. Three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren are living.

Of her immediate family, one brother, and two sisters are living. They are Augustus Scherr, of Whisler, and Mrs. Mary Cook and Mrs. Elizabeth Penn, of Kingston.

The funeral services will be held at her late home Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. S. W. Hiles will officiate. Interment in the cemetery at Kingston.

THE PISTOL AGAIN.

Time was when the suggestion that the making of revolvers be classed as a felony would have aroused widespread derision. It still causes a sneer in some quarters, but they are chiefly those exorcised by Magistrate Howe of New York in putting himself squarely on record in favor of such a prohibitive law.

Sober-minded citizens, concerned alike with their safety and that of the community in which they reside, are beginning to wonder where this orgy of crime that has a big helper in the ever handy revolver is going to lead the nation, recently characterized by a prominent jurist as the most lawless on earth.

Criminal records in Detroit alone are sufficient to convince one of the need of some means of eliminating firearms. Theoretically, under existing legislation, it is a difficult matter for one to possess a revolver in Detroit. In practice it works as a handicap to the respectable citizen whose only reason for going armed would be to protect himself. With local sales restricted, potential gunmen have no trouble in securing firearms from outside source, if, indeed, they have to go that far.

All the police activity that can be brought to bear will be only partially successful in stamping out the practice of gun-toting. Indiscriminate searching of individuals is against the principles of personal liberty that we sometimes carry to absurd extremes. Those who shoot to kill are not in a habit of going around boasting of their intentions and the damage is done before they can be apprehended.

The cure for this evil that has raised the violent death toll to alarming figures is to make it impossible to procure pistols. So long as they are manufactured for any but government use the prevalent bloody toll will continue to be taken.—Detroit Free Press.

AMUSEMENTS

Victor Hugo Halperin, the producer of "TEA—with a KICK!", the Associated Exhibitors' super-comedy now playing at the Met has won much praise on this production.

He first came into national prominence while the literary associate of Elbert Hubbard. The tang, style, satire and irresistible American humor of Hubbard's genius is stamped in all his work. Every inch of film in "TEA with a KICK!" breathes Halperin's genial personality. Like a fresh breeze on the sultry sea of the commonplace, his originality invigorates and captivates.

"TEA—with a KICK!" is a satire on present-day American life. It tickles the toes of prohibition and throws its audiences into throes of laughter—its humor is instantaneous and contagious. Each subtitle in the picture is an original epigram and audiences leaving the theater quote the titles as they would lines from a successful state play. The slogans "TEA—with a KICK!" and "silly little me" have become national overnight.

Twenty-seven stars, a veritable "Who's Who" in Hollywood interpret this picture on the screen. Among them are Ralph Lewis, Doris May, Creighton Hale, Rosemary Theby, Stuart Holmes, Irene D'Annelle, Louise Fazenda, Hank Mann, Zasu Pitts, Chester Conklin, Billy Franey and Victor Potel. A ballet of 100 "Hollywood Heartbreakers" and ten prize-winning beauties round out the personnel of the production.

THE WATCH SHOP

Interior Remodeled and Large Stock of Art Goods Carried.

Edward Sensenbrenner, proprietor of The Watch Shop, has remodeled the interior of his store, which has made a decided change and which has greatly enhanced its appearance. The new shelving gives him an opportunity to display the art goods of which he carries a large supply.

Mr. Sensenbrenner is one of the city's merchants who does not stand still, but believes in keeping his stock up-to-date and with the march of time and in carrying all the new ideas and conceits in the jewelry line so dear to the heart of the feminine sex.

SWEETCORN CROP

Canneries Will be Less Than Fifty Percent Production This Year.

Owing to the continued drought sweetcorn has been hit hard according to advices received by H. M. Crites from his manager, Joseph McMaha at Chrisman, Illinois.

Mr. Crites has three canning factories in Illinois. Mr. McMaha says that the yield will probably be a half crop or fifty per cent. Practically the same conditions prevail in this section.

The Sears and Nichols Canning company, of Chillicothe, report that at Frankfort, they expect to gather a third of a crop, but at Circleville and other points where their canneries are located, fifty per cent will probably be the average. New York state was hit harder than Ohio sweetcorn territory as in some places it won't pay to gather what little corn there is in the field.

Mr. Crites says there is very little corn in warehouses or in the hands of jobbers. He had an offer Thursday to load two cars at one dollar a dozen. Some grocers still have an ample supply of last year's stock, but are holding it for a better price.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF THE PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

1. Stop, look and listen at a railroad crossings.
2. Remember that gasoline and whisky don't mix.
3. Don't attempt to pass traffic on hills or curves.
4. When parking get as far to the side as possible.
5. If you want to drive with one arm, join the circus.
6. Be sure and apply your brakes before you get to the curve.
7. Don't misjudge the speed of the oncoming car when passing a car ahead of you. Play safe.
8. Cut down your speed on wet pavements. The only fellow who knows how a car will skid is long since dead.
9. Drive with courtesy and with respect for the rights of others.
10. In case of doubt, go slow.

These rules were emphasized by Director Boulay in an address before the safety meeting held in the assembly room of the house of representatives recently, in accordance with Governor Donahey's proclamation.

A ROSE HER LUCKY CHARM

She wears a rose in her hair and a rose in her bodice, does Be Starr, aerialist, whenever she goes aloft to somersault to hand-to-hand catches in the Edward Ward flying troupe with Sells-Floto circus, coming to Circleville Friday, August 29, for she believes that a rose is her lucky "piece" her charm from harm. And there is reason for this petite, chic artiste's belief, for on the two occasions when she failed to wear her red rose—yes, the rose must be red to make everything just right—Miss Starr has had accidents. Once, her leaving pedestal, forty-four feet above the rings, broke with her, giving her a nasty tumble to the ground, and, another time, a net guy snapped just as she was whirling down toward the two Ward acts, the largest in the world—eighteen people. There are two hundred women performers in a wild animal trainers with Sells Floto circus this season, and three hundred women counting, the ballet of se-ent take part in the opulent Egyptian animal spectacle opening the show.

Sawdust Ring and a Pretty Love Affair

By ELIZABETH COBB

FROM a distance Marley, circus clown, worshiped the daring female equestrienne, Gloria. She was simply a lively, delighted girl, full of vivacity and loving the sawdust atmosphere because she had been brought up in it.

Gloria's father watched his motherless child as the apple of his eye. He was jealous of any attention bestowed upon her by her fellow actors.

"He leaves the show and disappears, and you never see him on the street," said Mr. Rice one day to the manager. "What matters, so he fills the bill and draws the crowd?" retorted the manager.

"Yes, he does that, all right," was conceded.

Then there happened something that awoke both gratitude and uneasiness in the old ringmaster. One night, just as Gloria was rounding the ring with tip-toe elegance, a gasoline chandelier fell across the head of the steed she rode.

Gloria sprang lightly to the sawdust floor of the arena. A whirl of the scattering flames, however, had caught her light gauzy dress.

The ringmaster stood petrified with helpless dread. A quick figure suddenly flew past dressing room curtains. It was Marley.

He had torn down a drapery in his mad rush. How he did it, he himself could not tell afterwards, but in a flash he had enveloped that beloved form, extinguished the flames and Gloria, her hair barely singed, bowed and smiled to the audience, while Marley tottered back out of view, face and hands seared and blistered.

The audience yelled and clapped their hands until the manager forced Marley into the ring. Gloria, radiant, had caught his hand, and both stood bowing amid the deafening plaudits.

The thrill of that sweet contact rewarded Marley for all he suffered. Marley held Gloria as high above him as the stars. Besides that, a certain secret in his life oppressed him, crushed him, shut him away from appearing as the true man that he really was.

It was one morning, about a week after this episode, that a few of the actors met to rehearse a new act. The ringmaster, for a wonder, was absent, but his daughter and Marley were both on hand.

They had drawn aside in the dressing room entrance to await their call in the act being rehearsed, and were conversing casually when two men came through the main entrance and approached the manager.

"You have a man here named Marley," spoke one of them.

"Yes, what of it?" snapped the manager, ruffled at the intrusion.

"We are officers of the law and we have a warrant for his arrest as Charles Page."

Gloria fixed her startled eyes upon her companion. Marley had paled. He shrank back slightly.

"He is a criminal, an embezzler," continued the officer.

"I shall go with him," spoke Marley, quickly. "I am neither Charles Page nor an embezzler, but duty demands that I should be the scapegoat for both."

"Oh, I knew you were innocent!" cried Gloria, her hands clasping his arm fervently. "No, you shall not sacrifice yourself. Quick—this way!"

It was with considerable wonderment that a search for Marley began, the manager noted that he had disappeared.

Gloria's heart fluttered for hours after that. More than once her eyes glanced toward the cage where her performing tiger, Hudah, was confined. She learned that a guard of officers hung around the outside of the tent.

And there within, in the cage, hidden by the great canvas cover of the cage wagon, Marley lurked. He was at the mercy of the ferocious Hudah, but he held a talisman that made the animal gentle as a kitten towards him—the scarf Gloria always wore when in the cage. When the great circus caravan wended its slow, gaudy way from the city the next day, the watching officers again missed it in finding a clue to the man who had vanished.

The show made a long trip across four states. That evening they settled at their fixed stand; Rice called Marley into his room at the hotel.

"Now, then, I want your story," he said mandatorily.

"Why?" challenged Marley.

"For Gloria's sake."

That was enough. If Gloria was interested! Ah! was it friendship, gratitude only? But Marley recited all the details of an event, where, to save a sorrowing mother, he had assumed the blame of the crime of another.

"I have an offer for a long tour in Europe," said Rice. "There you would be safe."

"But why should I trouble you thus?" began Marley, and the old ringmaster answered:

"I think Gloria will wish to go where you go. She believes in you. Are you dense, man! She loves you, and I know you to be a man of honor, and so—"

And so the circus romance ended in a quiet, happy wedding, and peace, and security and love.

Attempted Extortion Alleged.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Fielding Smith, 19, confessed, police say, that he and his brother, Earl, 11, had attempted to extort $8,000 from Jacob Franks, father of murdered Robert Franks, by threats of killing Mrs. Franks and their daughter, Josephine. Earl was arrested as he took two decoy packages from a rubbish box.

Fell From Thresher.

Bellefontaine, O., Aug. 22.—Levi Hartzler, 51, farmer of near West Liberty, was killed instantly when he fell from a threshing machine. His back was broken. It is thought that he was overcome by heat.

Near Enough.

A certain retired British colonel tells a story of a dusky bishop who once went to a function in town. He gave his name to the flunky as the bishop of Honolulu, but the man failed to catch it, and believing that in the case of a negro bishop all things were possible, announced him as "the bishop of Hallelujah."—Exchange.

Steam Never Visible.

Actual steam is not visible. The visible white vapor which is frequently referred to as steam is in reality a collection of fine moisture particles which are formed by the condensation of true steam.

Unscathed.

Old Mr. Ballington, who was fond of relating war stories after dinner, mentioned having been in five engagements. "That's not so much," said little George suddenly. "Why, George," cried his scandalized mother, "what do you mean?" "Five isn't many," persisted George; "sister Mary has been engaged nine times!"

Betrayed by Mercury

Guilt secrets are said to be bared unerringly by an apparatus invented by Dr. Albert Schneider, of the University of California. The suspect places the forefinger of each hand on contacts from which run minute wires to a capillary electrometer and an arrangement of glass tubing. Through one tube runs a fine thread of mercury, fluctuations of which are said to betray the suspect.—London Answers.

Musical Meals for Fish

Additional evidence that fishes are able to hear has been produced by a German scientist, who fed blind fishes to a musical accompaniment. The fishes, after the sixth day of this treatment, always came up to the surface when the whistle blew, and, once learned, the trick was never forgotten, the fishes invariably appearing to time during a 30-day test.—London Tit-Bits.

Sure of His Position

Congressman Blather was a passenger on the steamship Sieve, which was slowly sinking. The passengers were climbing into the lifeboats. "Congressman," suggested a reporter aboard the ill-fated craft, "here's a chance for some publicity. If you cared—" "You may quote me as saying," replied the statesman, "that I am heartily in favor of a back-to-the-land movement."—Legion Weekly.

Earn Salary Shopping

There are some women in New York who earn their living simply by shopping. These women are the "price testers" employed by the big stores. Their work consists in visiting stores selling goods similar to those sold by their employers and purchasing or examining articles so that relative prices and quality may be compared.

Overcrowded China

If the population of the United States and 40,000,000 more were crowded into the state of Texas, the density of the population would be about the same as that of China in the valleys of the Yang-tze-Kiang and the plains between the Yang-tze-Kiang and the Hoangho. This means an average of 520 persons to the square mile.

He Took His Encore

It was little Ruth's first visit to the farm. She was watching a meadow lark in an adjoining field and listening to his song. In a little while she entered the house and told her aunt about it. "He wasn't a bit afraid," she said, "he just looked at me and then turned round and sang another verse."—Boston Transcript.

Fiddling Work!
A certain young New Zealander, six or seven years old, is very inquisitive. One day he was asking how things came to be here: "Mother, who made me?" The mother replied, "God." "Who made the horses and cows?" "God." "And who made the elephants?" "Why, God, of course!" A long pause, then: "Well, did God make flies?" "Why, yes, my son!" "Humph!" said the boy. "Fiddling work, flies!"—Everybody's Magazine.

HARTMAN THEATER
This year's production of the Al. G. Field minstrel show, the 38th annual edition, which opens at the Hartman theater, Columbus, Monday, August 25, and remains thruout fair week, is the last word in minstrel entertainment. It is easily recognized as the fastest, most appealing and truly characteristic minstrel show on the American stage today. It is presented under the direction of Edward Conard present manager of the show. Al. G. Field minstrel show have always stood at the front and this year is no exception, the show is better than ever before.

Jack Richards again heads the cast of singers and minstrel lovers all over the country acclaim him as the most popular minstrel balladist. His role is exceedingly heavy in this production since the public consistently demand to hear more of him. Billy Church, the clear, bell-like tenor, also captivates his audiences. Five clever comedians are in the cast; Nick Huford, Harry Frankel, Harry Shunk, Johnny Healy and Jack Kennedy and their efforts are easily worthy of the profession. To dance like Billy and Leo Doran is an art and their chorus of dancers is exceptionally nimble and well trained. As a female impersonator, Boni Mack keeps his audience guessing.

The opening scene of the show is on the deck of a pleasure yacht, sailing the seas and you can almost hear the waves lapping the sides of the boat, so real is the atmosphere. The second part changes to Holland and even the tulips danced to the rhythm of the enchanting music. Romance and adventure run high in the afterpiece, which takes place in Spain. In the finale in a cabaret in Spain, as well as at the opening, the entire company, including the orchestra, is on the stage. Mail orders are being accepted at any time and seats are selling at the box office. The demand seems to indicate that the Field show will enjoy even greater popularity than it already has. Matinees are on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Ancient Card Game
The origin of the game of whist is very obscure, but under its old name of triumph it was so generally understood that Bishop Latimer preached a Christmas sermon in 1529 at Cambridge in which the allegories were based on the game.

The First Meistersinger
Heinrich von Meissen, who died at Mainz, Germany, in 1318, was the founder of the first school of Meistersingers. The women of Mainz, whose praises he sang, carried his body to his tomb in the cathedral.

HANDSOME SIGN

At Crist Department Store, Main and Court Streets.

The Crist Department store has swung a most artistic sign across the sidewalk in front of the building, corner Court and Main streets. The sign is sixteen feet long and 32 inches wide. The letters are made of wood, covered with gold leaf and are twelve inches long with caps fourteen inches long, ornamental scroll work will embellish the sign, top and bottom and the ends. The letters of gold on a field of black brings the name of the firm out prominently and can be seen at quite a distance.

The work is the handicraft of E. W. Van Winkle, who is a past master in sign work. He recently placed an ornamental sign for the Clark 5 & 10 cent store on West Main street, which is also a beautiful work of art. When it comes to sign work Mr. Van Winkle toes the mark with really clever work.

Trimming Details to Bid for Favor

Fall Modes Promise Plaits, Flounce and Tunic, Says Fashion Writer.

Forecasting the autumn mode has come to be one of the favorite pastimes of midsummer at the exclusive resorts on the continent, observes a fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune. The clothes worn at Biarritz, Deauville, Longchamps and other modish environs of Paris are closely scanned, and the slightest insinuation of something new is avidly seized upon by the observers, professional and otherwise, at these fashionable watering places. As a matter of fact, these resorts do exert a surprisingly strong prenatal influence over the lesser details of the approaching mode—an influence which will be more than usually potent this year because of the unusual variety of styles that the French designers are displaying.

There are numerous artistic innovations and elaborations, but there is no evidence of a new silhouette, although indications point toward an outline more involved than has been offered in many seasons. Sleeves, waistline and skirt length are essentially unchanged, and if these Olympic models be any criterion, it is apparent that the autumn mode will derive its variation from the intricate manipulation of trimming details. Plait, flounce, tunic, plaid fabric and the ensemble are the dominating features of the Colombes costumes, and while none of these is startlingly new, each is being developed in a distinctly original manner.

Another manifestation of the urge toward plaids is seen in a three-piece costume of Philippe et Gaston, and consists of a plaid wool dress in beige tones, accompanied by a beige kasha coat matching one of the tones of the plaid. The coat is widely open at the front and has a shawl collar with square-cut ends.

For Formal Affairs.

Let it not be understood, however, that the vogue for plaids extends to formal clothes. It does not, save when developed in taffeta and chiffon, which are worn on dressy afternoon occasions. At the supplementary formal affairs crisp, full-skirted taffeta models in monotone plaids of rose, clear yellow and pale green are in evidence upon the smartest dressers. Generally, though, the plaid design belongs to the field of sports clothes, and where it is not used for the costume itself it invariably makes its appearance as a trimming or an accessory. Thus, a plain beige or white kasha wool coat may have a plaid border, either woven in the cloth or cut from a plaid and applied in the form of a border. Or vari-colored soutache braids may be used to form plaid borders for plain cloths. This very charming idea is distinctly new. Many beautiful braids woven in plaid design are employed to give a touch of novelty to demurely toned suits or dresses. Some women who consider plaid effects too striking for the entire costume adopt them only for linings.

The plaid hat and the plaid scarf are two other important landscape notes. The bangkok, woven in plaid design and either trimmed slightly or not at all is accompanied by a wool scarf, developed in the same plaid or in a different design with the same colorings.

The trend toward the ensemble is rapidly gaining momentum at every smart watering place on the Continent. For the benefit of those who do not know just what an ensemble is, it is explained by the translation of its name. Ensemble is a French word meaning together, and an ensemble costume is one in which two or more of the component parts are brought together by a fabric, color, pattern or trimming which is identical on each. Thus one ensemble may consist of a dress and coat, another of a hat and jacket, a third of hat and parasol, and so on.

No radical change in autumn styles is indicated by the Olympic fashions, and this announcement is bound to cause disappointment among many who have confidently expected that fall would manifest fundamentally changed fashion tendencies. For them there is this consolation. While minor tendencies of the mode are often predicted before the openings, it is the custom of Paris to be entirely mute concerning basic changes until the actual moment when the new styles are launched. Which is possibly the case in the present instance.

The London Modes.

Since the early days of Vardon, Ray and the memorable Doherty, England and the social sports have been indissolubly linked. From this alliance there has come a type of sportswomen's clothes which bears the stamp of London as clearly as the Jenny or Lanvin frock carries the mark of Paris. It is recognizable anywhere, and it is differentiated from the French sport frock in that it has a distinctly more bristling, active atmosphere. A glance at the British Empire exhibition at Wembley emphasizes this pure English sports clothes strain despite the fact that the models shown are the joint contribution of every section of the British empire, from South Africa to Nottingham.

Flannel, cretonne, English and Scotch woolsens and jerseys in many shades and designs are the principal sports fabrics seen at the exhibition. The typical frock is cut on simple lines and is distinguished by either a complete absence or a minimum of trimming. There is no attempt at elaboration of details and, for once, Paris is entirely forgotten in a collection of athletic models which express the active English sportswoman and not her passive sisters from other climes.

Sports blazers of flannel, trimmed with brass buttons and cut on manly lines, are particularly effective on links, court or in the galleries. They may be used at the end of the game by the player, or they can be worn in cooler weather by the spectator. Cretonne coats and jumpers are also in evidence and they serve the same purposes as the blazer.

The Wembley exhibition also includes formal clothes, but these accept the leadership of France and follow the tenets of Paris except for the fabrics which are essentially British.

Panels of Nottingham lace characterize the dress which was most admired in the exhibit. The pattern of the lace is picked out with fine beads on the net, and there is a looped bead fringe finishing the scallop of the panels. A large cluster of flowers and grapes at the waistline and a second group on the right shoulder were the only touches of color on the cream ground of the lace.

The Youthful Clothes.

Youth may be fleeting, but no one will ever guess it if modiste and couturier continue to cater to the misguided taste of that portion of femininity who cannot understand that the belle of the 1905 prom has become quite archaic in the eyes of the 1924 alumnus. The war started it—and since the cessation of hostilities the urge toward youthful clothes has rapidly gained momentum, until last season every new design, whether created for sub-deb or dowager, was motivated by the ideal of eternal youth.

Within certain limits this tendency is distinctly praiseworthy—no one wishes for a return of the times when mature women clothed themselves in sober, straight-laced garments and then settled down to become passive spectators to the end of their days, but when fashion sends forth grandmothers with short skirts, short hair and the much-acclaimed natural silhouette, it is obvious that something has blurred the esthetic vision of the creators of the mode.

A new mode is in making. In a short time the Paris autumn collections will be ready for the eyes of a waiting world. It is the custom of the important designers to seek inspiration from historic epochs of the past, and our suggestion is that they refer to the much-disdained Victorian period for the fall styles of 1924.

SHERIFF MAKES RAID

Head of Club Charged With Exhibiting Gambling Devices.

Cincinnati, Aug. 22.—Chief Deputy Sheriff Sperber filed charges of exhibiting gambling devices and operating games of chance against Herman Carney, proprietor of the Cherry Hill club, near Reading. The charges followed a raid on the club. Gambling paraphernalia seized at the club was new, and according to the sheriff's office, its approximate value is $2,000. When Sheriff Richard Witt and deputies visited the club no gambling was in progress, but the paraphernalia, it is charged, was in position. The sheriff visited the Nine Mile house and Meadow Inn, in the western part of the county, but neither gambling nor liquor was found, he said.

Arrives From Europe.
